Expert Whiskey

Suntory Yamazaki 12yr Malt £8.50

Yamazaki 12 Years was the flagship whisky from the Yamazaki distillery in Japan. At Suntory they use a unique aging process that involves Spanish, American (ex-Bourbon) and Japanese (Mizunara) oak. This gives the whisky a unique character all its own.

Jack Ryan £10.50

A late-2015 release from the Jack Ryan Beggars Bush Irish whiskey range - and this one's a limited edition bottling, too! It's a 15 year old Irish single malt, drawn from a bourbon cask and bottled at 57.5% ABV.

Glendalough 13 years £9.30

13 year old single malt Irish whiskey, released by Glendalough. It's allowed to age in bourbon casks for its maturation, which results in waves and waves of caramel and vanilla notes.

Ben Nevis 21 years £21.00

Where to start with this amazing bottling? Initially matured in re-fill hogsheads for 13 years (at 72.5%!) it was then moved to a single port butt to rest for a further 8 years, creating a unique style of Ben Nevis. The sort of malt that makes even the most seasoned whisky drinker excited.

Boutique Whiskey £29.00

Here is the first batch of Longmorn single malt Scotch whisky which has been independently bottled by That Boutique-y Whisky Company! Notes of vanilla and maple on the palate finished with Black pepper and cedar spice on the nose.
